The Future Of Business Powered By Natural Language Generation

Arria NLG produces an artificial intelligence that didn't exist before, as it has one of the most fundamental human skills – the ability to communicate. Today, corporations are constantly competing in new spaces, and are often unable to continue their growth trajectories on the back of human capital alone – that's where our NLG platforms are providing much-needed solutions. Infinite amounts of data are being generated every single day, and the lack of experts with the ability to analyze this data has become apparent.

AI BUSINESS INTERVIEWS MATTHEW GOULD:

Q: If you had one message for CIO/CTOs of large scale Enterprise when looking at the opportunity AI holds, what would this be?

A: Cars are not the only things being made smarter by AI systems and cognitive computing. The AI revolution can help large scale enterprises derive greater margin from their operations, improve safety, and customer satisfaction.
